

NO FURTHER ACTION ON SUFFRAGE TODAY

Tennessee Anti's To Stage Big Mass Meeting To See What Can Be Done Now

(By Associated Press)
Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 19.—Judge Debow charged the grand jury in criminal court here today on efforts to improperly influence or corrupt the law-making power of the state, and laid special emphasis on the fight for ratification of the federal suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature.

Announcement that opponents of woman suffrage would hold a mass meeting tonight to discuss steps to "save the south from the federal suffrage force bill" taken as an indication that Speaker Walker would not attempt today to force reconsideration of the action in the Tennessee House yesterday in ratifying the amendment.

Meanwhile the legislature met and the House adjourned until tomorrow without any effort to reconsider yesterday's action.

The judge's charge was followed by publication in the newspapers today of two affidavits, alleging that undue influence was brought to bear on one member of the House, who first voted to table the ratification resolution, and later voted for its adoption. A single vote decided the issue for suffrage.

Beckham's View Of It

Senator J. C. W. Beckham in Louisville, gave out the following interview on suffrage ratification: "I am glad to know that this question has finally been settled by the action of the Tennessee legislature. The legislature of Kentucky at its last session gave to women of this state the right to vote in the Presidential election, and when I addressed the democratic convention on May 4 I referred to the fact and expressed the hope that the women of this state would also be given the right to vote this year in the Senatorial and Congressional elections. That has been done by the action of the Tennessee legislature, and I earnestly hope that the good women of Kentucky will realize the great responsibility placed upon them and that they will exercise their right in the coming election. Every one of them should be sure to register where necessary and to be present at the polls on election day."

"I feel sure, too, that a large majority of the good women of Kentucky will recognize that it is best for their state and for their country that the democratic party should succeed in this election."

"Civilization Saved"—Cox

Columbus, O., Aug. 19.—The following statement commenting on Tennessee's ratification of the woman suffrage amendment, was issued by Gov. Cox, democratic presidential nominee: "The civilization of the world is saved. The mothers of America will stay the hand of war and repudiate those who trifle with a great principle. The action of the Tennessee legislature has another significance. It is in earnest of the democratic policy to pay its platform obligations."

Morrow Chief Speaker At Big Eastern Meeting

Newton, Mass., Aug. 19.—The democratic administration of the last eight years was arraigned by Gov. Edwin P. Morrow, of Kentucky, who was the principal speaker Wednesday at the mass meeting of the Associated Republican Clubs of Massachusetts, in honor of Governor Calvin Coolidge, the republican nominee for vice president.

Mr. Morrow, who last month officially notified Gov. Coolidge of his nomination, condemned the democratic record in the matter of both foreign and domestic policies.

"The real big issue in this campaign," he said, "is that we want to get rid of the democratic administration. We've had enough of it."

Mr. Coolidge, who presided, said the United States in this campaign was confronted with a crisis, which had as its issue the restoration of American "to the good graces and confidence of nations abroad," and the establishment of "an orderly government at home under the Constitution."

He paid a high tribute to Senator Warren G. Harding.

Watson's bond was fixed at $500 and Miltner's at $1,000. Watson in explaining the incident, said the noise by card players interrupted his rest and in the ensuing scuffle his night clothing became torn.

COX ILLUSTRATES LEAGUE IMPORTANCE

(By Associated Press)

South Bend, Ind., August 19.—National and international finance and economic adjustment, as well as the high cost of living, is bound up in the success of the League of Nations, Governor Cox, democratic nominee for president, declared here today, addressing a large public gathering. "Our safety, the economic readjustment and prosperity are all involved in America's making the league a world force," he said, and asserted the democratic position is definite and affirmative, and charged the "reactionary republican leaders as being evasive, ambiguous and hypocritical."

PLEASING MINSTRELS

When it comes to music, both vocal and instrumental, and the good old-time minstrel entertainment, it is to be found at Man's Greater Shows on the Deatherage lot, where the aggregations are to be seen.

The Dandy Dixie Minstrels, which is featured, and appropriately so, should be seen and heard to be thoroughly appreciated. There are 16 artists who make it a point to be up to the minute, which they are for their jokes and music, and are so new the varnish has not begun to show, and when they are through many of the entertainment could be continued throughout the evening. Owner and Manager Man believes in presenting new and good entertainment, and he is surely the possessor of original music and a general performance, when minstrel is mentioned. The engagement closes with Friday night's performance.

SULLIVAN MAKES COMPLETE RETRACTION

And Lexington Herald Explains That Personal Letter Was Inadvertently Published

Hon. J. A. Sullivan has requested the Daily Register to publish the following letter from him and an editorial which appeared in the Lexington Herald, Thursday:

RETRACTION FROM J. A. SULLIVAN

Richmond, Ky., Aug. 15, 1920.

To Editor of Lexington Herald:

Early last week I wrote you a letter enclosing to you a check for annual renewal for subscription to your paper and was surprised and regretted that a part of my letter was published in your paper of the 14th last, Saturday.

I was surprised because the letter stated it was personal and therefore was not for publication. The paper never before published a personal letter of mine, unless I authorized, but in this instance such authority was not asked for or given.

I regret it chiefly because since its publication I have been informed that Rodes Terrill (to whom I referred in my personal letter), was twice examined and twice refused admission into the service in our recent war with Germany because of serious physical disability (to-wit: Hernia, that he subsequently was admitted into the qualified or United Service, and therefore was no slacker. The erroneous statement to that effect is now corrected and withdrawn.

I also regret publication of said letter because it made reference to G. G. (Judge) Gilbert and Mr. Davis. That letter was hurriedly dictated and without much thought. I ask that this letter be published and given the same prominence as was given said erroneous letter, so that justice be done.

Respectfully,
J. A. SULLIVAN.

AN UNFORTUNATE PUBLICATION

(The Herald Editorial)

The publication of the original letter from Mr. J. A. Sullivan referred to in another letter from him published today, was the result of haste and carelessness in The Herald office. Mr. Sullivan's statement that he enclosed a check for your subscription in a personal letter is correct. The letter was received by the circulation department and sent by the circulation department to the news desk. The editor in charge on the night of its receipt only read the first paragraph which referred to Cox and Roosevelt, and without reading the concluding paragraphs, sent it to the composing room for publication. The man who handled the letter, if he had not made the mistake to fail to read the paragraphs relating to the race in the 8th District, would not have considered its publication. It is hardly necessary to say that no one in a responsible position in The Herald organization would have deliberately published the letter, knowing its contents.

The Herald, so far as it is concerned, desires to retract and disavow any reflection whatever on its part on Judge Gilbert or Mr. George Davis or Mr. Rodes Terrill. Until the receipt of the letter from Mr. Sullivan, published today, the management of The Herald had no information as to whom Mr. Sullivan referred in connection with the secretaryship to Mr. Gilbert in the event of his election to Congress. The Herald had no idea that reference was made to Rodes Terrill, and the Herald takes advantage of the first opportunity to disavow, as far as it is concerned, the reference to him in Mr. Sullivan's letter and to disavow any purpose to reflect in any way upon Mr. Terrill.

The Herald regrets exceedingly the unfortunate publication of a personal letter and it desires to offer its apologies to Mr. Gilbert, Mr. Davis and Mr. Terrill, for all statements reflecting in any way upon him.

The Herald has the highest regard for Judge Gilbert and is sure that Mr. Sullivan is mistaken in his estimate both as to Mr. Gilbert's ability to represent the Eighth District in Congress and as to his loyalty and patriotism. Mr. Davis and Mr. Terrill are not personally known to The Herald management, but we know nothing to their discredit and disavow any statement in The Herald tending to reflect upon them in any way.

The Herald also desires to apologize to Mr. Sullivan for the publication of a personal letter.

CUT-OUT IS VETOED AT LEXINGTON MEET

Association Formed and Three States Will Co-Operate For Protection of Grower

As predicted by the Daily Register last week, the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association would be formed at the meeting at Lexington, Wednesday. Madison county would have a number of delegates present, and the vote, which was effective by a small margin, would be again the cut-out of the 1921 tobacco crop.

All this came to pass at the meeting which was attended by almost 200 delegates, eight representatives being from this county, and an organization committee comprising members from various counties of the three states represented, was selected to control the situation and pilot the future operations looking toward the betterment of conditions attendant upon producing tobacco, as well as protect the interests of the growers. The meeting, held in the ballroom of the Phoenix Hotel, was undoubtedly the largest assemblage of general tobacco raisers in the three states ever recorded in Kentucky, the latter being looked upon as the banner tobacco state in this part of the country.

The fact that the cut-out movement had been advocated by many, caused the vote in favor of this to be much greater than anticipated by some, although those who were not in favor of it, campaigned from the start with the result that the measure was defeated by the small margin of five votes. Ohio took an active part in the convention and showed from the start that there was a general inclination to co-operate with the other states, and the Buckeye delegates came forward with a strong hand extended in support of the general movement which, to a degree, also sanctioned the cut-out of next year's crop.

The consensus of opinion, however, was changed after the discussion was well under way, and when it was found there would be ample protection for the producers, their production being looked after as well as the price and manipulation of future sales, swerved in line with those who declared they had the land especially adapted for tobacco raising, and contended this should be the production of the ground. The convention developed the fact that many producers are either buying their tobacco farms, or contemplating such movement with the result that they have equipped themselves for the work and a year away from the work would both prevent them paying their regular installment on the property, or cause them to lose considerably through the idleness of much paraphernalia which has been gathered for tobacco raising exclusively. There is an element also which is well under way in paying for land, and another year will let them out. It was noticed, however, that the bulk of advocates of next year's crop came from some of the largest producers of the country.

There were 4,986 acres of land represented by the delegates voting from the 29 counties represented, one from each county, and of this number of acres, 3,546 acres is being devoted to the raising of tobacco.

The organization committee, selected to perfect the organization and look after the general interests of the association, represents the three states, the members being experienced tobacco growers and men of unusual business integrity, as follows:

John W. Newman, Woodford county, chairman.
E. M. Mansfield, Carroll county, secretary.
Victor Bradley, Scott county.
O. C. Chapman, Clermont county, Ohio.
David Prewitt, Clark county.
Martin L. Harris, Dearborn county, Indiana.

T. B. Hill, Montgomery county. A resolution defining the powers of the committee, backed by association action, was passed and in this resolution there is a statement to the effect that the Kentucky crop of tobacco this year will exceed that of all former years, hence the necessity for protection, the fact also being included that the situation at present is the most serious in the history of the state. There will be

FAMOUS HORSES READY FOR BIG RACE

The finishing touches are being applied to the training of the five famous Kentucky thoroughbred horses which will take part in the great cross country race in the east soon, and the animals will be shipped east within a week or ten days, accompanied by Mr. William Woodard and the trainers, as well as the riders, who have been putting the steeds through some extensive and intensive training during the past month. The trainers declare the horses are in the best of condition and believe they will stand a good show of bringing home the ribbons, although it is reported there will be strong competition this year.

THE LAST CHANCE FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

"All S. A. C. T. men and other ex-service men who intend to take advantage of the new bill giving them free tuition at state institutions of learning should file their discharges and applications at once, as they must be on record before August 26 if the applicant is to get the benefit of these advantages this year," report officers of the Jesse M. Dykes Post in reviewing the decision of the state attorney general, Charles I. Dawson that S. A. C. T. men were members of the military forces and entitled to the benefits of the new act. The provisions of the new bill give the ex-service man free matriculation fees free tuition, if any, and transportation from his home to the site of the institution if a full ten months' course is completed. Applications should be made at once to the registrar of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal or any other state institution of learning.

PRESIDENT COATES IN INSTITUTE WORK

President T. J. Coates, of the Eastern Normal, is whooping things up at Flemingsburg, where he is conducting the teachers' institute, he being the chief instructor, and has more than 75 teachers taking the examination. The program is one that is appealing to all, in that it is similar to the one in evidence during the institute here, one of the 20th century institutes, which involves all of the new ideas regarding school instruction. The institute there is said to be the most interesting and instructive, as well as generally successful ones ever held in that county. President Coates will return to Richmond the last of the week. This special work has been attracting his attention for several weeks, during which time he has been very actively engaged.

a meeting at special call, when all the intricate workings of the association will be defined and the members will be kept in touch with all movements long before they are made, if possible. Of the 39 counties represented, 22 voted against the cut-out, and 17 for it. Madison county voted against the movement. This was known last week, when the first meeting in the interest of the growers was held at the Madison court house. The success and interest attending the first meeting caused all to be greatly concerned and greatly encouraged in the matter of production, and the protection of the crops after they had been raised. There is a degree of stability connected with the association that appeals to all and indications are that the future will mark a changed situation, in that the producers will have something to say regarding the sale of their crops, instead of accepting prices, said to be at unjustifiable variance, which has characterized selling in the past. Delegates from Madison county registered at the convention, were: J. D. Powell, Sam Amster, Green Clay, N. B. Deatherage, J. H. Jones, Dr. G. G. Perry, W. E. Taylor and Angil Brandenburg.

MACHINE ACCIDENT; HUGH SAMUELS HURT

Hugh Samuels, Richmond federal prohibition officer, who has been operating in Harlan county for some time, is confined to a hospital there, suffering from injuries sustained in an automobile accident a few days ago according to intelligence forwarded to Mrs. Samuels, of this city.

Mr. Samuels, together with a number of other officers, was driving along a highway with darkness coming on, and the machine left the road, falling down a ten-foot embankment, turning over in the descent. Although very severely injured about the arms and shoulders, Mr. Samuels was the first to get from beneath the machine; in fact, the only one able to extricate himself, according to reports, without assistance, for after getting out himself he assisted his companions from their perilous position, although none of them were more than painfully injured. It developed that the injuries sustained by the Richmond man were more serious than anticipated at first, and it was necessary to have him taken to a hospital. He will be able to come home with in a few days, it is believed.

W. L. Kash received 1,540 votes and Sam Hurst 1,566 votes. Mr. Kash filed a motion in the Breathitt circuit court before Judge Shackelford asking for an order to require a recount of the votes.

RIPY AND DAVIS TO SPEAK FOR GILBERT

Both Heartily Congratulate Nominee—Barkley To Speak Here Saturday

Like the good game democrats their friends knew they are, both Col. Frank L. Ripy and Private George Davis have sent letters of congratulations to Judge Ralph Gilbert and pledged him their heartiest support in the coming congressional race. Both will be heard upon the stump for the nominee. It is probable that both will be asked to make speeches in Madison county.

Much interest is being manifested in the coming of Congressman Alben W. Barkley to Madison county Saturday afternoon to speak for Cox and Roosevelt. Barkley made a great hit with his speech in the last campaign here. He is an eloquent and magnetic speaker and will without a doubt be heard by a record crowd.

Judge John C. Chenault has been selected to have charge of the democratic campaign in Madison county and has entered actively upon the work of organizing to get out every democratic vote in the coming presidential and congressional election.

Congressman Barkley speaks in Lancaster next Monday, and it is understood that a delegation of Garrard county democrats will come up here to meet him and take him back with them. He will be heard by a great crowd at Lancaster.

The letters of congratulation which Ripy and Davis have sent Gilbert ring true, and will be read with interest here. They follow:

Dear Ralph: Owing to the fact that the wires are in bad shape, I did not learn just who had been nominated for congress until the arrival of the Courier-Journal at Liberty this afternoon. Please accept my congratulations, old fellow, and rest assured my services both on and off the stump are at your command. Yours, etc., GEORGE T. DAVIS.

The letter from Colonel Ripy to Judge Gilbert read as follows:

Judge Ralph W. Gilbert, Shelbyville, Ky.:
Dear Ralph: Official returns show your nomination. I congratulate you most heartily and assure you of my loyal support. It will be with a genuine refreshment to the splendid citizenship of the Eighth district to see the retirement of the present congressman, and I want you and the democracy of the district to know that I want it done, and I am going to help you do. My services are always at the command of my party and country. Very sincerely, your friend, FRANK L. RIPPY.
